THE EAGLE FAN, which may be seen at the store of Armstrong & Co., Market street. in this city, is the ne plus ultra of grain and seed cleaners. It is about 15 inches broad, 4 feet long and three feet high, and weighs 90 to 100 fbs. It will separate all light and foreign matter from grass seeds, wheat, corn, &c. It may be made to winnow 100 bushels of grain per hour. For cheapness, lightness, simplicity, efficiency and thoroughness of work, we have never seen its equal.

The alarm of fire yesterday morning was a false one.

SHIPMENT EXTRAORDINARY.—Messes, Graves, MARKS & Co., publishers of this city, yesterday shipped an invoice of books, their own publications, to England, to fill an order. This, we understand is the first order for books from the South, to come from England. Most of these books were written here, and are in all things the entire production of the South. We hope it is but the fererunner of many shipments: at least that the publishing interests of the South may soon be able to supply the home demand for literature.
